Election/Restrictions

Applicant claims a composition, "for printed matters printed with a water-based ink". The emphasized phrase is, of course, nothing more than a recitation of intended use and, thus, is assessed no patentable weight when evaluating the claims.

Accordingly, Applicant's invention is nothing more than a composition comprising a so-called "oleophilic resin" and a hydrocarbon solvent. The Examiner notes that are potentially myriad applications for an invention described in such general terms. The Examiner further submits that there are almost certainly innumerable and varied combinations of a polymer that may be aptly described as oleophilic and a volatile hydrocarbon solvent. Therefore, Applicant is required to elect as a starting point for prosecution a particular oleophilic resin and solvent supported by their Specification for which a patentability determination will be made:

The resin species for which there are support in the Specification are outlined in claim 5.

The hydrocarbon solvent species for which there are support in the Specification are outlined in claim 4.

These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Claims 1 and 2 are generic.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The polymer resins, while they may have shared attributes, are not all captured by the same description. The solvents may, or may not, be considered obvious variants depending on what the particular teachings of a reference are.

Applicant is reminded that the Examiner had engaged in discussions with Applicant's representative wherein it was suggested that Applicant consider replacing the composition claims with ones directed to an article, i.e. a printer matter coated with the composition or, alternatively, a method of using the composition. The Examiner's suggestion was based on the strong probability that various permutations of Applicant's invention are disclosed in the prior art though not necessarily for the same applications.

A telephone call was made to Joseph Ruch Jr. to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Marc S. Zimmer whose telephone number is 571-272-1096. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 8:30-5:00.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Jim Seidleck can be reached on 571-272-1078. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
